SERMON ON "INFALLIBILITY."—At St. Mary's Church yesterday, Rev. Peter Kroes preached a very interesting discourse on the great religious question of the day—Papal Infallibility. Beginning with a statement of the number of Bishops attending the Council of the Vatican, the method of examining questions, the vote on the definition of the dogma, &c., he exhibited the perfect freedom of the discussion and the patience of the Bishops, who, clothed in heavy vestment, sat, day after day, in an uncomfortable hall, for hours, listening to four hundred long discourses, one hundred of them on the infallibility question. He thought his congregation would have become tired a good deal before the end of these speeches or sermons. He then proceeded to explain the dogma of infallibility as required to be believed by every Catholic. It always had been believed and practiced by the church, though never before expressly defined. There never was an appeal from a papal decision, and things within the church would go on now as they had always gone on, nothing whatever new having been declared. He then proceeded to show what "infallibility" was not. It was not infallibility for the Pope said Mass every day, as he did, and in the Mass, he confessed to God, to angels, and to men, that he had "sinned in thought word and deed," and that he offered up the sacrifices for his "innumerable sins, offences, and negligences." True, out of two hundred and sixty Popes, one-third had been either martyrs or canonized saints, and most of the rest had lived lives no lessedly better than the most of men; to five or six only had the finger of malice ever been pointed, as unworthy of their high office; yet the Pope might sin just as often as other men, and yet be infallible. Neither was he infallible as a private Christian, in his opinions, nor in his acts as a temporal sovereign, nor even in his private judgments as a theologian, or his decisions on matters of discipline, or on things depending on facts proved by human testimony. It was only when speaking as the teacher of the whole church, positively defining matters of faith or morals, and declaring what was or was not in accordance with God's law, that he was infallible. He was not inspired as the Prophets or Evangelists were; it was his duty, as Supreme Judge of the faith, to examine the law as contained in the Holy Scriptures and Tradition and thus to use all humane means to ascertain the truth. Then the Spirit of God would assist him, and in no event could he lead the church into error. If the church was infallible, the Pope must be, for he was the successor of St. Peter, was the rock on which the church was built, and how could a stable edifice rest on an unstable foundation? He was to "confirm his brethren," and how could he confirm, who was himself erring? he was to feed the sheep and the lambs, and how could he be entrusted with such a charge, who might lead them to poisonous pastures? The sermon was a very able one and was listened to with profound attention by a large congregation.

ALEXANDRIA CO-OPERATIVE BUILDING ASSOCIATION.—Pursuant to a notice published in the Gazette, a meeting of those favorable to the organization of a new building association, in the city, upon the plan of the German Co-operative Association, which has proved so successful, was held at the Assembly Rooms, on Saturday night last. About fifty were present. H. C. Slaymaker was appointed Chairman and Orlando Wood Secretary. Remarks explanatory of the principles upon which the proposed organization was to be effected were made by B. F. Price, Col. M. D. Ball, Thomas Dobie, A. H. Smythe, J. T. Hill, and others, after which one hundred and fifty shares of stock were subscribed for. A committee consisting of Joseph Hopkins, Thomas Reishell, John T. Hill, Thomas Dobie and the chairman was appointed to draft a constitution, to be submitted at an adjourned meeting to be held at the same time and place on the evening of Thursday next. The meeting then adjourned.

AN ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.—A lady from this city, who has been spending the summer upon her farm near Rappahannock station in Fauquier county, was suddenly aroused from her slumbers a few nights since by the pressure of a hand upon her arm, and opening her eyes saw a large negro man standing by the side of her bed. She immediately screamed for help, and her overseer, who was an inmate of the house, armed with a stick and gun, at once ran to her assistance. The villain hearing the approach of the overseer seized a young lady, who was sleeping in the same bed with the lady just mentioned, in his arms and springing through a side door darted for the woods, and had reached the gate of the enclosure before the overseer caught up with him and forced him to relinquish his prey, by beating him severely over the head with a club. The young lady had swooned from fright. The affair occasioned great excitement in the neighborhood, and parties have been searching for the wretch, but as yet without success.

And the said county and city conventions shall appoint or elect delegates (one for every 100 registered voters) to conventions in each congressional district to nominate Conservative candidates for Congress. The time and place of holding congressional conventions (where not already so fixed) will be designated by the district members of the State Executive Committee for their respective districts.

COUNTY COURT.—The September term of the County Court for this county, Judge R. H. Cockerill presiding, commenced and closed its session to day. P. B. Stilson and S. Chapman Neale were admitted to practice before the Court. Two ministers were licensed to celebrate the rites of matrimony, and some other unimportant business transacted.

The camp meeting of the M. E. Church, now in progress at Vienna, Fairfax county, was yesterday largely attended by persons from this city and from the country for miles around. The services were quite impressive, the day was delightful, and those who were present seemed to enjoy the occasion. There was no rowdiness and no disturbance.

Mr. Blacklock had been attacked by sickness while in attendance upon the late camp-meeting at Hamilton, which increased in severity upon his return, and terminated in his death.

POLICE REPORT.—A disturbance occurred at the locality known as Buzzard Roost, northern end of Royal street, about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the particulars of which are as follows: A colored woman named Georgiana Williams was whipping her child, who ran to another colored woman named Pink Jenkins for protection. The mother, in her anger, picked up a knife and threw it at the child, but it pierced the breast of the woman Jenkins. A colored man named Robert Jackson then stepped forward, and was in return struck by Robert Stewart, and a fight thereupon ensued, which was interrupted by Sergeant James Smith of the police, who arrested all the parties engaged. On Saturday night last policeman Webb and Jackson on their beat discovered the front door of the residence of Mr. Wm. Gregory, on Washington street, wide open, but on awaking the family, it was found that if an attempt at robbery had been made, it had not succeeded. On Saturday night last policeman Franks, while watching in the alley in rear of the store of J. Broders & Co., an attempt to rob which, it was thought, had been made the night before, as the rear window had been found opened and raised—saw a man sneak up the alley and try the fastenings of the door. Sliding down the door upon which he was sitting, the policeman moved stealthily towards him, but making a slight noise, the would be thief looked up and seeing his danger, dashed down the alley. He was shot at by the policeman, but reaching the lumber yards in that vicinity managed to escape, though a thorough search was made for him.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—An Amsterdam telegram reports that the first announcement that the Prince Imperial had escaped into Belgium is erroneous. He has not yet been seen at Sedan with the Emperor and McMahon's army.

The total number of prisoners by this surrender reaches one hundred and twenty thousand.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Midnight.—As the proclamation of the Ministers announcing the capitulation of McMahon's army and the capture of the Emperor becomes known, the excitement among the people becomes indescribable.

In the evening great crowds have occupied the Place de la Concorde, it being known that a stormy scene had taken place in the Corps Legislatif.

The story of the capture of the Emperor was freely circulated, but was not credited. It was reported that the Dictatorship would be announced and that a secret meeting was being held.

The crowd anxiously awaited the news. There was a large police force on the ground, but no violence was committed.

At last, the crowds separated. At this hour many streets are crowded with anxious and excited people, but there is no disorder.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The N. Y. Evening Telegram has the following special:

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The Empress Eugenie having received assurances from the Prussian Government that she will not be treated as a prisoner, has consented to join her husband and son, who has also surrendered with his father at Sedan. She will leave for Prussia as soon as her arrangements can be perfected.

General Trochu will at once be made temporary dictator and Paris will be defended to the last.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—A dispatch dated Brussels Sept. 3, received in this city this morning states that 12,000 French troops, with cannons and 1,200 horses, had crossed the Belgian frontier and laid down their arms.

A demand had been made upon Montigny for the surrender of that town and garrison, which was refused.

Another dispatch dated Charlebrasse Sept. 3, received in this city, states that on the previous day the columns of Strasbourg had been inundated by a rising of the River Rhine, causing great suffering and destruction of property. The magnificent cathedral so much admired by tourists is certainly partially destroyed.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—3 p. m.—It is now impossible to reach the Corps Legislatif owing to the enormous crowd surrounding the building. It is reported that the vote on "Decheance" [forfeiture—or downfall of the Dynasty?] has been carried by 185, 185 ayes.

The people are wild with excitement and are rushing through the streets bearing placards with the vote of the Corps Legislatif inscribed thereon, shouts of "Vive la Republique!" are heard on all sides.

Regiments passing into the city are received by the populace with deafening shouts of "Vive la Ligue! Vive la Republique!"

The National Guard reversed their arms as the regular troops passed, as a sign of amity. The troops are singing "Mourir pour la Patrie."

The scene is one of indescribable excitement. Rumors of all kinds are in circulation, and it is impossible to ascertain their foundation; but one sentiment seems to be paramount—resistance to invasion—all the nation now to the rescue.

The people and troops join enthusiastically in the shout.

The Garde Nationale say that order must be preserved, and the people evince but little desire to create trouble.

All seem overjoyed at the vote of Decheance. Before the residence of Gen. Trochu, in the Louvre, there is a compact mass of people awaiting the return of the Governor.

Around the Tuilleries is a strong military force guarding against any possible display of popular indignation.

Hundreds of thousands of citizens are still pushing towards the Corps Legislatif. The Place de la Concorde is one mass of human beings.

LATER.—Crowds are beginning to tear down the Imperial arms from the fronts of shops. There are fears that this may lead to serious trouble, as the National Guard are not inclined to permit these disorders.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—1:30 p. m.—The city presents one of the most imposing popular displays ever witnessed.

Over hundred thousand citizens are marching to the Corps Legislatif, and surrounding the building.

Amid the phrenzied hurrahs of the countless masses which are filling every avenue leading to the Hall, there are no symptoms of disorder yet; only the unanimous expression of the popular will.

LATER.—4:30 p. m.—At the departure of the deputies from the Corps Legislatif, scenes of enthusiasm took place around the building; the National Guard fraternizing with the troops and the people. Thousands of the guards rushed into the Hall, but were persuaded to retire by Gambetta, who seems to exert great influence over the people. Crowds outside are singing La Marseillaise and shouting "Vive la Republique!"

There is intense excitement and a constant noise of voices that drowns all other sounds.

There were no dangerous elements visible until the crowd reached the Rue Castiglione where they began tearing down the Imperial arms.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE SHIVERING SEASON.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States, caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities as one of those visitations of providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent or remittent fever be prevented by the use of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season, at which this malarial prevails. Prevention is, it needless to say, the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been taken on by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some measure thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments, but all who have a general tendency either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so called specifics (including quinine,) usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable.

HEALTH GIVING WINE.—Sometime since Mr. A. Speer, of Passaic, N. J., presented us with a bottle of his Port Grape Wine. In our turn, we presented it to a friend who was in feeble health. After giving the wine a few days, our friend assured us that he derived marked benefits from its use. We find that many invalids in this city are using Speer's Port Grape Wine with the same beneficial results. Druggists keep it.
